

CLEMSON INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF CAPITALISM
PRESENTS
JOHN W. POPE LECTURE SERIES

THE POSTMODERN CRITIQUE OF LIBERAL EDUCATION: PHILOSOPHY AND THE PURPOSE OF THE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Stephen Hicks

Professor of Philosophy, Rockford University
Executive Director, Center for Ethics and Entrepreneurship

The politicized battles over education are mostly not about politics but about philosophy. Policy battles are heated not only because the practical stakes are high but because they affirm or deny entire philosophies of life. In his talk, Dr. Stephen Hicks pits postmodern against Enlightenment philosophy to highlight why and how liberal education is now subject to strong critique and institutional abandonment.
